Although the Biggest Skiing in America means 5,512 acres of ski-able terrain, on 155 named runs on 3 mountains, with an elevation in the meadow area of big sky of 6,200 feet, elevation at the base of lone peak is 7,500 feet, and at the summit of lone peak is 11,166 feet, not to mention the longest vertical at 4,350 feet. The percentage of difficulty are as following 14% beginners, 26% intermediate, 40% advanced, and 20% expert levels of skiing. The average amount of snow fall is 400 plus inches of snow. If that's not enough to get you to sign up for downhill skiing or snowboarding, here are a few added activities. Big Sky is home to 80k of phenomenal cross country skiing trails as well as trails for snow shoeing, in addition, you can enjoy dog sledding, sleigh ride dinners or back country snow cat dinner rides, not to mention Yellow Stone National Park home of Old Faithful a must see if you have never been there. We would have a guide and our transportation would be a snowmobile to and from the entrance of the park. This would be an all-day event.

You will be staying 7 nights at The Lodge of Big Sky located on the premises of Big Sky. Complimentary wireless internet access, cable TV, phone, coffeemaker, microwave, and compact refrigerator, wet bar, hair dryer, clock radio, and daily housekeeping.
